STORIES OF REFUGEES. STORIES OF REFUGEES.

Spaniards who have made their way to American lines tell of the scarcity of provisions among the Filipanos. Dissembling among the leaders are also reported. That Luna was murdered by a guard of Aguinaldo is undoubtedly a fact. Armament and ammunition, however, is smuggled in, but only about one-third of Aguinaldo's fellowers are equipped with modern implements of war. Aguinaldo's personality is what keeps them together. He is a born leader, and possesses wonderful ability as an organizer.

Communication with American prisoners in the insurgent lines has been eatherlished and these men, it has been learned are well treated. No fears for their safety are entertained.
